

- kubectl is a powerful tool, but it doesn't cover every possible scenario by default
- Plugins are executable files that extend the functionality of kubectl
- Plugins can be written in any programming language or script that allows you to write command-line commands but doing this can be tedious and error-prone
 - Krew is a plugin manager simplifies this  Krew
 - Krew provides a verified repository for easy installation, updates, and compatibility assurance